News March 2015

A few impressions of Cairo

We have welcomed again BA students Arabic and Islamic Studies from the Netherlands and Flanders in the beginning of February. Discover in the coming months how they experience Cairo. Read more>>

Egyptology programme - Journal

The past two months have been very exciting for our MA Egyptology students from The Netherlands and Flanders, including a trip to the south of Egypt. Dive once more into their adventures by reading their weekly journal. Read more>>

Summer School 2015

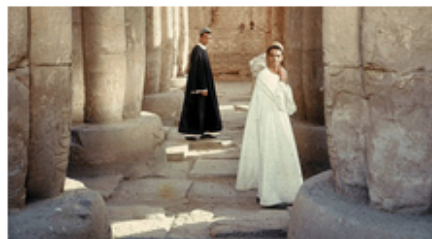

We are glad to inform you about the Summer School on "Bread - Freedom - Social Justice" from 6 until 14 July 2015 at NVIC. Read more>>

New library arrivals

From January 28 until February 12 Cairo turned into heaven for book lovers (and for our librarians as well). The International Book Fair, that took place in Nasr City, provided our library with lots of new books. Come and check them out at NVIC!

Nostalgia

March is our final month of the Nostalgia themed lectures (see below) and movies in cooperation with the Italian Cultural Institute in Cairo. We hope to continue our successful Sunday screenings with some Egyptian classics and documentaries. Don't miss out on what's to come! Read more>>

Lecture programme March

The past few weeks we have hosted excellent lectures from speakers as Dorothea Schulz, Mohamed Abla and Olaf Kaper. Our March programme is out now, so join us every Thursday at 6 p.m. for some fascinating talks about a variety of subjects! Read more>>

Staff changes

NVIC has recently welcomed a few new staff members. We have found a new assistant-librarian in Zakaria El Houbba and Thomas Van Gool has joined our team as well as an intern. This means we had to say goodbye to former intern Celien Moors, who is returning to Belgium to finish her Journalism studies. We wish everyone all the best luck for the future!
