News October 2015

T AFL: Teaching Arabic as a Foreign Language

In January 2016 NVIC will start a methodological course on teaching Arabic to non-native speakers. It is a blended course that combines the practical aspects of teaching Arabic as a Foreign Language (T AFL) with its underlying linguistic theories. The course will be taught in English and Arabic. For more information and application see our website.

Guest researchers

During the year we have a number of guest researchers whom we provide with office space and other facilities at the NVIC. At the moment we have five guest researchers in a wide range of disciplines: Josephine van den Bent, Farid Farid, Lucia Carminati, Teresa Pepe and Ifdal Elsaket. We wish them a pleasant research period at the NVIC!

Films and Lectures

Our lectures and movies in the theme of education will continue until mid November (films on Sunday and lectures on Thursday). We selected some interesting movies and lectures and are looking forward to see you all at our events. More information and updates on our Facebook page and our website.

NVICinema hosts SHNIT Festival!

The great SHNIT International Shortfilm Festival is back in Cairo and we are happy to host the festival for one night at the NVIC. Be prepared for an evening full of exciting short films and check out our Facebook page for more updates soon!

Finding a room in Cairo

Even in your own city it can be difficult to find an apartment or room in a suitable and pleasant area. So what about finding one in Cairo? There are a lot of brokers, websites and Facebook groups, but how do you exactly find the place that you can call home? A word from our Intern Lies Peeters about finding a room in Cairo. Read her story here.
