Register Now! Course: Introduction to Ancient Egypt 2016

There are still a few spots left for our introductory course in Egyptology, which starts next week! In 6 richly illustrated lessons, the history of ancient Egypt will be brought to life, both chronologically as well as thematically. For more information, visit our website.

Survival Arabic Group Lessons 2016

You are working or studying in Egypt but find it hard to communicate in Arabic and interact with Egyptians? Then this course is perfect for you. In ten weeks' time, you will be equipped with the communicative skills in Egyptian Colloquial Arabic needed to engage in basic social interactions. Scheduled in the evenings, this course can be combined with your professional activities. The course is held from 3 October until 7 December 2016. For more information, visit our website.

Crash Course Egyptian Arabic 2016

You have spent some time studying Arabic but your conversation skills have not really taken off? Then this course is perfect for you. In four weeks' time, we will get you up to an intermediate level in communicative skills in the principal vernacular of Arabic. The course is held from 31 July until 25 August 2016. For more information, visit our website.

Tutankhamun Conference 2016

On Friday the 6th of May - on the first day of a three-day conference - two eminent scholars, professor Dr Olaf Kaper of Leiden University and Dr Gillian Vogelsang of the Textile Research Centre in Leiden, presented their lectures on textiles and embroidery found in the tomb of Tutankhamun. The subject of the conference at the new Grand Egyptian Museum in Cairo focused on several aspects of the collection found in this tomb. Participants of this conference are the true world experts on the collection of Tutankhamun. NVIC was pleased to welcome these two scholars to Cairo and was proud to be of service to them.

26 May: Last Lecture of the Season

During May, the 'Palestine Month', we try to present part of the rich cultural memory and traditions which Palestinians tirelessly try to uphold, defend and preserve. On 26 May, Kiven Strohm has the honour to give the last lecture of this season, titled "Aesthetic Citizenship, or the Work of Palestinian Contemporary Visual Art in Israel". We are looking forward to see you there!

More information and updates related to our films and lectures can be found on our Facebook page and our website.
